Chairman Eliot Engel
House Foreign Affairs Committee
Washington, D.C. 20515

Ranking Member Michael McCaul
House Foreign Affairs Committee
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Engel and Ranking Member McCaul:

As more than 350 Jewish clergy members from 36 states and the District of Columbia, we write today to raise our voices in support of global lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, and intersex (LGBTQI+) human rights. As we mark Pride Month, our faith reminds us that all people are created b'tzelem Elohim, in the divine image, and that we must not stand idly by in the face of injustice.

Unfortunately, we know that LGBTQI+ communities face hate and discrimination, and we are deeply concerned about COVID-19's disproportionate impacts on the lives and dignity of LGBTQI+ people across the world. We strongly urge the House Foreign Affairs Committee to demonstrate its commitment to supporting the needs of LGBTQI+ people during this crisis, including the addition of non-discrimination language and bolstering protections for LGBTQI+ people and other vulnerable groups in international assistance funding and future COVID-19 relief packages, and to hold an LGBTQI+-focused hearing as soon as time allows.

Too often, skewed interpretations of religious doctrines are used to stigmatize LGBTQI+ people, justifying the creation and defense of discriminatory laws and norms. As faith leaders, we unequivocally denounce these attempts to use religion to justify oppression. In 70 countries across the globe, being LGBTQI+ is criminalized and, in some countries, a person can be sentenced to death simply because of who they are or whom they love. LGBTQI+ people also face countless barriers to employment, housing, healthcare, and other services, preventing many people from living a life of dignity.

With the onslaught of COVID-19, we are also gravely distressed about the ways this pandemic will exacerbate the struggles of LGBTQI+ people across the world. LGBTQI+ people are further cut off from access to the services they need most, including sexual and reproductive health services, increasing their isolation and vulnerability to human rights violations. Furthermore, amidst global instability, LGBTQI+ individuals are facing increasing hateful rhetoric and violence—with some people even blaming the LGBTQI+ community for the spread of COVID-19. For example, in March, Ugandan authorities raided a shelter and arrested 20 LGBTQI+ people, charging them with COVID-related offense as a guise to target this community.

We know from our own Jewish history what it's like to face stigma, violence, and discrimination simply because of one's identity. This period of global instability will undoubtedly increase these challenges, especially in the most repressive contexts.

As 363 Jewish clergy members united for justice and equality, we call on the House Foreign Affairs Committee to support the unique needs of LGBTQI+ people during this global pandemic. This includes the addition of non-discrimination language and protections for LGBTQI+ people and other vulnerable groups in international assistance funding and future COVID-19 relief packages and holding a LGBTQI+-focused hearing as soon as the Committee is able. This hearing would allow for LGBTQI+ activists from around the world to raise their voices in opposition to hate and discrimination, and it would provide an opportunity to discuss important legislation, including the Greater Leadership for the Benefit of Equality (GLOBE) Act (H.R. 3874), that would promote the work of LGBTQI+ human rights defenders across the globe.

At a time when religion is increasingly distorted to justify denying rights to LGBTQI+ people, we collectively reaffirm that our Jewish texts, heritage, and shared history demand that we stand with marginalized communities – including LGBTQI+ people – across the world. We urge the Committee to do the same. It is only by supporting the rights of the most marginalized populations and opposing hate and discrimination that we can build a more just world.

Sincerely,

The undersigned 363 Rabbis and Cantors
